DCA Capital Partners Portfolio Company Ensynch sold to Insight Enterprises

TEMPE, Ariz.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Insight Enterprises, Inc. (NASDAQ:NSIT - News) ("Insight" or "the Company"), a leading global technology provider of hardware, software and service solutions, has announced that its U.S. operating subsidiary will acquire Tempe-based Ensynch, a leading professional services firm with multiple Microsoft Gold competencies and solutions across the complete IT stack. Ensynch's 2010 services revenue was $16.2 million. The transaction is expected to close within thirty days.

"Ensynch brings a depth of knowledge and expertise that will be a tremendous asset to Insight and elevate our services offerings to the next level," said Ken Lamneck, president and CEO of Insight. "Through a dedicated focus on client service, the Ensynch team consistently ranks in the top 2 percent of Microsoft partners. Combining Ensynch's technical skills with Insight's sales engine will elevate our ability to provide clients with complete software solutions to drive their success. We are excited about adding Ensynch's industry-leading capabilities in Cloud, Identity Management and Virtualization to our existing offerings."

"With this acquisition, Insight and Ensynch perfectly complement each other's relative strengths to form a business that delivers more robust and comprehensive IT solutions to customers," said Jenni Flinders, vice president, U.S. partner business, Microsoft Corporation. "These two companies, both valued Microsoft partners, represent a best practice within the partner ecosystem: collaboration. Recognizing their respective core competencies, they have joined forces to broaden and deepen service offerings that are most relevant in today's market. It is rewarding to be part of Insight and Ensynch's shared success."

As part of the acquisition, Ensynch president and CEO Gene Holmquist will join Insight as VP, Software Sales, while Ensynch COO Stan Lequin will join Insight as VP, National Professional Services.

"We are very pleased to be adding Ensynch's leadership team to Insight. Gene and Stan are well-respected IT veterans with proven leadership ability. They have helped build a company that has a complementary vision and culture to Insight's. Their addition will help provide our clients with the highest level of service and contribute to Insight's future success," added Lamneck.
